

I do like the committee hearings, though.
Three quarters showboating, but the other quarter they actually work! Impressive!

And when wrapping up, they congratulate each other on hard work as if they had dug in a mine for weeks!

And such congratulations flow over party lines!
Bi-partisan.

Thus the nasty atmosphere loves up!

At the sordid conclusion.

It's all sordid? That's a too-intellectual take! It's all our world.